THE Trustees of these Schools being of Opinion, that the State thereof, properly laid before the worthy Inhabitants of these Parishes, would tend to the Furtherance of the Charity, by making its Utility better known;

Resolved, That the same be immediately printed, and delivered at the Houses of those Inhabitants who, from their Situation in Life, are enabled, and from their generous Disposition may be inclined, to promote this useful and beneficial Institution.

The Fluctuation of Inhabitants in most Parishes in this great Town, the Influx of new ones in these in particular, particular, of course make the Usefulness, or even the Existence, of this Charity unknown to many, whose Hands are readily stretched forth to the Relief of the Distressed.

To such the State of this School is now submitted.

It was founded in 1705, with Intent to assist the indigent Inhabitants; at the same Time it essentially promoted the public Good. Those who were distressed by Sickness or other Misfortunes, and who, by the utmost Exertions of honest Labour could barely provide Bread for a numerous Family, here found the best Relief by having that Education given to their Children which they could not afford, and without which those Children would have been unqualified for almost any Trade.

By this Charity, which is supported only by voluntary Subscriptions, Donations, and Collections at Sermons, (and not from any Assistance from Parish Rates, as there is Reason to suppose too many Persons imagine) One hundred and One Boys, and Seventy Girls, are educated, Annually clothed, have Shoes and Stockings three times a Year, and supplied with every Requisite for their Learning. They are destined for Businesses of the most laborious Sort; nothing unnecessary, or tending to instil Ideas above their Station, is provided for the Boys; they are clothed in the plainest Manner; are taught Reading, Writing, and Accompts, to make them useful to their future Masters; Principles of the Christian tian Religion, according to the Rites of the Church of England, are instilled into their Minds, to ensure that Probity which such Principles alone can ensure. Thus taught, the Managers of these Schools with Pleasure can say, many have hereby been made useful and industrious Members of Society, who, without this Assistance, were in Danger of becoming Nuisances to it.

The Girls are clothed in the same plain Manner, are taught to Read, Write, and do plain and household Work; and both, when of Age, are put out to suitable Trades or Services. With every Boy and Girl apprenticed by this Charity is given Two Pounds Two Shillings to clothe them, together with a Bible, Common Prayer Book, and the Whole Duty of Man.

The Situation of the Girls being more exposed to the Temptations of Vice than that of the Boys, an Attempt was made, in 1767, to render this Institution still more useful to them, by taking some of the Girls wholly into the House, and maintaining them at the Expence of the Trust; this Number has been gradually encreased to Twenty, who are taken into the House by Seniority, where they are lodged, and boarded, and instructed in all Sorts of household Work, beside the Schooling, which they have in common with the other Children.

The Trustees, intent on rendering this Charity still more useful to the Public, propose, as soon as the Fund will will permit, to take the Girls wholly into the School-House, and maintain them at the Expence of the Trust.

The Advantages Society derives from the Children of the Poor being thus provided for, and brought up in the Fear and Love of GOD, and Knowledge of their Duty to Superiors, are too numerous to preface in this Statement; the melancholy Contrast of neglected Infancy, the direful Cause of youthful Depravity, is frequently beheld, and felt with Grief by every Lover of Mankind, and will best display the Necessity and Utility of these public and laudable Institutions.

Such of the worthy Inhabitants as are desirous of promoting this useful Institution, either by Donation or becoming Subscribers, are requested to signify their Intention to William Bray, Esq. Treasurer, N° 61, Great Russell Street, Bloomsbury, where Benefactions and Subscriptions will be thankfully received.

And to those who are inclined to leave a Legacy to this Charity, the following Form is humbly recommended:

“ Item, I give and bequeath unto D. M. and “ L. N. the Sum of _____ upon “ Trust, that they, or One of them, do pay the “ same to the Treasurer or Treasurers, for the “ Time being, of the Charity Schools of Saint “ Giles in the Fields and Saint George, Blooms-
 “ bury, in the County of Middlesex, which Sum
 “ of _____ I desire may “ be

“ be paid out of my Personal Estate, and be “ applied for the better Support of the said
 “ Charity Schools.”

✶ The above Form is mentioned, as Estates in Land, or Money left to be laid out in Land, cannot be taken by the Trustees, such Bequests being void by the Mortmain Act.

P. S. Any Lady or Gentleman subscribing One Guinea Annually, is entitled to recommend Children, which will be admitted in their Turn, provided the Circumstances of such Children be agreeable to the Rules of the School; and a Subscriber of Two Guineas Annually is a perpetual Trustee.

N. B. A Donation of Twenty Pounds, or upwards, entitles the Donor to be a perpetual Trustee.
